BARBER JAMES IN LIMBO

There was a full house in mayor's court this morning. There were a number of cases, but Barber William James, colored, was the star attraction. James was arrested yesterday morning (Sunday), about 8:30 o'clock, by Special Policeman A. J. Brigrance, for peddling whisky on the streets without a license. Mr. Brigrance saw James making some mysterious passes with another colored man, and sat up and took notice. A little later he went up stairs to his little barber shop, over the Hogan saloon, and came down stairs with a pint of whisky, which he soon disposed of, on the Commercial Bank corner. James then made another trip to his shop, returned and disposed of another bottle and Officer Brigrance saw the money change hands. Mr. Brigrance got assistance of Marshal Bull, and entered the barber shop, where they found 8 or 10 pint bottles of whisky and gin, of the cheaper brands. They then went for James, and soon found him at the colored boarding house in the rear of Thous-Zachry's furniture store, where he had just carried a small grip, which he had removed from a little store where it was previously secreted. The officers took charge of the grip, and also a package of half a dozen bottles of beer.
The grip contained pints of whisky and gin, also, with that taken from the barber shop, to the number of 18 pints. James was locked up in the city jail, and one of the men who bought whisky from him on the street, a big black fellow by the name of Arthur White, was also arrested to hold as a witness, when a pistol was found on him. In the mayor's court this morning, Mr. R. B. Bullock, counsel for James, asked to have the case continued until tomorrow morning, that he might have time to prepare his defense, as he was not allowed to communicate with his client yesterday. City Attorney Sistrunk objected to the continuance, but Mayor Nash granted it, and fixed the appearance bond, to be approved by the court, at $100. The witness White was placed under a $25 bond for his appearance, but on adjoining court the county authorities asked for him, on the charge of carrying concealed weapons, and were allowed to take him. When the city is through with James, the county and probably the United States authorities will all want a whack at him, so he is in a whole lot of trouble. It is understood that James' defense will be that he bought the stock of wet goods to take to a picnic at Sharnes Ferry later in the day, for a party of congenial colored spirits.
Aside, however, from the fact that this will be no excuse for having in his possession, under such suspicious circumstances, such an array of wet goods, there is ample evidence that he was selling the whiskey on the streets, ample proof of which Officer Brigrance has. It is said by some of the witnesses that James has been selling liquor on Sundays, and other days when there was a call for it, for the past two years.

Mayor Nash gave three other cases $5 each and one $15, in addition to the case of the two above mentioned that were continued.
